

The “Spirit Animals” of Réva

BAROLO DOCG (Barn Owl)

“If the owl nests on an oak tree in the vineyards, the vintage will be unforgettable...” our grandparents used to tell us.

BAROLO DOCG RAVERA (Snow Owl)

The owl, symbol of wisdom, for a wine like Barolo that pays back patience with glasses of wine that offer inspiration, wisdom and culture.”

BAROLO DOCG Cannubi (Screech Owl)

“An owl feather sewn in young people’s wedding dress is a greeting for a blooming and favorable future.”

LANGHE BIANCO DOC “GREY” (Parrot)

Like the Parrot, the Sauvignon Gris used in “Grey” is very rare– (we know of only a few vineyards in the Loire and hillsides of Chile). If you are drink grey, it is very likely your first experience drinking Sauvignon Gris.

BARBERA D'ALBA DOC SUPERIORE (Ferret label)

Happy is the vintner who finds a ferret’s footprints near his Barbera vines. In fact, since ancient times in Langa, this is an indication of an excellent vintage year. One thing is certain: a glass of Barbera holds the verve and gaiety of this amusing animal.

NEBBIOLO D'ALBA DOC (Fruit Bat label)

It is said that long ago, a bat tasted a bunch of grapes at night and learned an ancient secret. Even today, his descendants trace aerial geometries over the ripening grapes, and the old secret is still revealed in a glass of Nebbiolo.

DOLCETTO D'ALBA DOC (Ram)

In winter, when the sun is in Capricorn, you may sometimes find hoofprints in the vineyard. The old winemakers believe that it is the god Pan in person to visit their vineyards and where the Capricorn visits, the grapes are sweeter passed. Although this is only a legend, if you follow the hills Capricorn can discover the divine taste of Dolcetto.
